ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

In the process of completing a project of this dimension, there are always many people who give of their time and knowledge freely and enthusiastically. I would like to recognize some of the people who have made this possible.

First, I would like to thank my husband Terry and our children, Roxanne, Tara, and Brooks for their patience and understanding. Their help was invaluable in the solution of occasional family crises that occured when graveyard hunting prevented me from completing routine chores. Joyce and Edwin Brooks, my parents, helped me begin this project by serving as guides to many Jonesboro area gravesites. My parents-in-law, Lynn and Aileen Jones, provided many hours of child care while we were searching local sites. I am indebted to Terry Jones, Monica Snyder, Toni and Neal Hart, Treva Crissman, and Martha Harrington for the endless hours they spent hunting graveyards with me. My sincere appreciation is expressed to Martha Harrington who donated numerous Chatham County gravesite locations and inscriptions to this publication. Special thanks are given to Lois Byrd of the Sanford Herald for the publicity she generated in her articles about my graveyard search and to Mr. W. E. Horner of the Sanford Herald who published inscriptions and locations from thirty-one gravesites over a twenty year period. Without these valuable sources, I am sure many sites would have been overlooked. I am grateful to Charlie McBryde and Tom Harrington who found many difficult to locate graveyards and shared their results with me.

Many others took their time to guide me to local cemeteries. I would like to thank and recognize them as follows:

Worth Pickard
Ken Brewer
Joe Ben Goins
Sharon H. Bridges
T. T. Flynn
Bailey Thomas
Molly Vernon
Louis Lawrence
Mrs. Wava Mansfield
Marvin Groce
Jean McNeill
Jack Morgan
Jimmy Smith

Willie T. Johnson

I would also like to thank the individuals that called me to report the locations of graveyards. The most rewarding aspect of this project has been the contact with so many interesting and enthusiastic people. This project has been a challenge and has presented me with many unforgettable experiences.

INTRODUCTION

When I first started this project to list all Lee County Graveyards, I thought it would not be a problem to locate every graveyard in the county. But, after considerable effort and three years of searching, I know that my goal was almost impossible. I have several graveyards on my list that I could not locate and many more that I have heard rumors about. If you possess any information on the following graveyards or information on any private graveyard in Lee County that is not listed in this book, please contact me with the details.

I have been unable to locate these sites:

1. Pattishall Graveyard located behind Jones Chapel Church on Continental Can land

2. Spivey Graveyard on Poplar Springs Road

3. Gilmore-Stone Graveyard on Poplar Springs Road

4. Glass Graveyard near Carbonton

5. Graveyard near Black's Chapel Church and Pierce Graveyard

6. White Graveyard near County Line Road

7. Soldier's grave near Osgood

For further information as to the size, location, etc. of any graveyard in this publication, please refer to the Geological Survey Maps and Survey Sheets for the Lee County Graveyard Survey housed at the Department of Archives and History, Jones Street, Raleigh, N. C. or contact me at the address below.

The following inscriptions were taken from the stones located behind Buffalo Church. Part of them are in the clearing near the volleyball court and the others are located in the woods. This was the original graveyard for the church. Later, land in the front of the church was donated by the Matthews family, and many of the stones were removed and placed in the new graveyard. This is a listing of the stones that remain in the old graveyard.

COLE GRAVEYARD #1

LEE COUNTY
POCKET TOWNSHIP # 172

This article reprinted courtesy of the Sanford Herald. It was first printed in the September 10, 1958 edition:

The Cole Cemetery, one of the oldest in the county, was last used in 1914 and its location is unknown except to the oldest residents of the East Pocket section of the county.

A unique story, which may be fact or fiction, surrounds the origin of the cemetery. The story, told widely around the Pocket section, has it that a wagonner, using one of the old roads in the section was fatally bitten by a spider and buried near the place where he died.

The residents of the community proceeded to bury their dead around the fallen wagonner and the plot sprung up. A large plot, the cemetery contains some 24 unmarked graves and about 20 marked plots.

The prevalence of the old brownstone markers attests to the age of the cemetery with many of the old markers being beautifully lettered with florid inscriptions. The cemetery, located on the Martin Cole property (now Rupert Cole property, son of Martin), is near the John Knott Road, a dirt road which connects with the old Plank Road.

Located deep in the forests of the Pocket section, only old timers of the section are able to find it with many persons who once attended funerals there unable to find their way to it now. The earliest burial took place in the cemetery in 1817 with many of the persons buried in the cemetery being born in the 1700's.

COLE GRAVEYARD #1

Other names in the cemetery besides Cole are Sinclair, Ritter and Jackson. A road once used for lumbering runs within a few hundred yards of the cemetery.

To reach this graveyard, take US #1 South, turn right onto White Hill Road (15-501), go 2.1 miles, turn right onto a dirt road. Bear left at 1st fork, continuing down road past house of Ken Brewer. Bear to the right around field on old tobacco road. Take first logging road to the left until it dead ends. (Total mileage from White Hill Road to dead end--1.6 miles) Walk out in woods to the right through briar patch (90 degree angle from logging road). Graveyard located 100-150 yards from logging road.

ELIAS COX SLAVE GRAVEYARD

CAPE FEAR TOWNSHIP # 43

This graveyard is near an old oak tree that was living during the life of Elias Cox. Family tradition states that an old slave ran away to Liberty, N. C., thinking that there his freedom would be assured. Several weeks later when the family was eating, they saw this old slave in the old oak tree staring in the door at all the food. They went to the tree and welcomed him back. He told them he was so glad to be home, that he had almost starved to death in "Liberty". He is buried in a marked grave without an inscription.

DALRYMPLE SLAVE GRAVEYARD

JONESBORO TOWNSHIP # 155

Travel on 87 S., turn right onto Wilson Road, go about .6 mile and turn left onto Lee Avenue Extension. Continue driving for 1.3 miles, turn right onto Fernridge Drive. Travel to the dead end and park. Graveyard is ¼ to ½ mile in woods near the main Dalrymple graveyard. The graves were marked with fieldstones.

DALRYMPLE AND MORRIS GRAVEYARD

LEE COUNTY
GREENWOOD TOWNSHIP # 107

78 West, turn right onto St. Andrews Church Road (SR# 1146), go 5.4 miles, turn left onto improved dirt road. Go to the end of the road and park. Graveyard located in the woods to the right. The graves are marked with fieldstones and consist mainly of members of the Morris family. The Dalrymple family only has one member buried here. Neighborhood tradition states that John H. Dalrymple went out of town on business for a few days and one of his children died while he was gone. For some reason they could not return the body to the Dalrymple graveyard and had to bury the child there. (The Morris families and Dalrymple families are inter-related by marriage.)

Archibald McBryde's tombstone is crumbling and the words I have underlined are not legible. Miscellaneous Ancient Records of Moore County, NC by Rassie Wicker, page 363, provide the missing words:

Archibald MacBryde born in Wigtonshire, North Britan the 28th of September 1766, died at the Grange 15th of February 1836. By perserverance, industry, and attention he arose from poverty and obscurity to a seat in Congress and for sometime solicitor for the state for the Wilmington circuit, &c.

Archibald McBryde sailed from Stranraer, Scotland the 31st of May, 1775 with his parents, brother, and 2 sisters. He was a lawyer, farmer, the Deputy Clerk of Court 1792-1806, served the 11th and 12th Congress in Washington 1809-1813, and served as State Senator from Moore County 1813-1814.

GRAHAM GRAVEYARD

LEE COUNTY
GREENWOOD TOWNSHIP # 87

US #1 S., turn right onto White Hill Road (15-501), travel 3.5 miles, turn right onto Plank Road (SR# 1007), go one mile, turn right onto Chris Cole Road (SR# 1300), go 2.4 miles, turn right into the drive of John McLennon. The gravestone is in his yard lying on the ground.

The following article printed in the Sanford Herald September 15, 1958:

"Only two graves are located on the site of the Graham Cemetery, situated just off the John Knott Road (now Chris Cole Road) on the Martin Cole property in the East Pocket section of the county.

A single headstone with the inscription remaining on the family burial plot is just off a clearing once occupied by a lumber camp. The large brownstone marker measuring nearly four feet long is broken in half and lying on the ground. Lettering on the headstone is hand hewn, indicating that the marker was home made.

No birth date is shown on the large headstone, but the death date for Flora Graham is listed as May 1, 1830. Her husband, A. Graham, is buried in a plot immediately adjacent to the grave. The plot is supposedly located near the old homestead of the couple."

When I visited in February 1984, I found that the gravesites had been plowed up and a house built on the site. The home owners had, however, saved the tombstone and placed it flat on the ground under some trees. The huge marker is now broken in three parts.

The following information from Mr. Marvin Kelly:

Nancy Kelly was a daughter of Elias Cox. Absalom ran a turpentine operation and the local store. The Yankees camped on his land during the Civil War. Before Absalom owned this land, a Hancock man who was a potter by trade owned the land surrounding the graveyard. On the site of his pottery operation, the land will not grow anything.

DELITHIA KELLY GRAVEYARD

LEE COUNTY
EAST SANFORD TOWNSHIP # 77

Traveling on Charlotte Avenue E., turn right onto Grapevinyard Road (SR# 1509). Go 3 miles to the home of Milton Harrington. This graveyard was located on the surrounding land of Mr. Harrington, but has been destroyed.

The following reprinted from Sanford Herald article of February 11, 1959:

"The Kelly burial plot on the Poplar Springs Road was restored from the forest only ten to fifteen years ago. When the area was cleared only a pair of graves, the present number, were in view.

Raymond C. Harrington, one of the elder citizens of the community, remembers a burial in this graveyard, although the latest marked headstone bears the date 1871. Evidence points toward the fact that there were in past years several other graves in the vicinity.

The section around the graves is presently being used for crops and pastureland. The two headstones are kept clear of the plow by being surrounded by plant growth."

The following information received from Mr. Marvin Kelly:
Archibald McNeill was plowing his field one day when his wife brought him his lunch. They were sitting near the site of this graveyard and he told his wife he would like to be buried there. Archibald was in the Civil War and died in Petersburg, Virginia. His wife took one of their slaves with her to Raleigh to pick up his body and returned it to Moore County and buried him in the site they discussed during his lifetime.

Dunk Stewart, who died in Washington State during the early 1900's, was sent back to NC to be buried in this graveyard. It took almost a week to ship his body back. Dunk (Duncan) Stewart's parents are also buried here, John Stewart and wife.

MORRIS CHAPEL UNITED METHODIST CHURCH CEMETERY — HARNETT COUNTY # 232

Take 42 E., turn right onto Cox Mill Road (SR# 1529), drive to the Harnett County line, Church and graveyard located .2 mile after line.

John A. Morris, grandfather of Marvin Groce, donated the land on which the 1st church was built. The residents in the neighborhood all worked together to erect this church, which was built during the Civil War. As the next century approached, the congregation found themselves too large for the 40 year old structure. The 1st church was torn down and the present building erected on the original site. Mr. Groce helped lay the cornerstone of the new sanctuary. This is a partial listing of Morris Chapel cemetery.

BECKY MURCHISON GRAVEYARD LEE COUNTY

Take 42 W., turn left onto Steel Bridge Road (SR# 1318), go 5.7 miles, turn right onto Plank Road (SR# 1007). Travel .6 mile, turn right again onto old wagon road (now a drive), and bear to the right. Follow this old road, bearing to the right again at the next fork. Graveyard located in a grove of large trees at the end of the road. (Total distance from Plank Road to graveyard is .6 mile)

This graveyard was studied in detail and every precaution was taken to ensure accuracy. Due to the aged condition of many tombstones, I am sure discrepancies can be found.

The following information is from the Sanford Herald article of June 19, 1958:

"The cemetery, located deep in the woods of the old Gilliam property near the intersection of the Plank Road and the Glendon Road, is accessible only by traveling a back country road for more than 3/4 of a mile. The Little Pocket Creek folows directly behind the burial plot near the old road, once familiar to residents of the section as the old Jonesboro Road."

This tombstone could not be found in 1984 when I surveyed the graveyard. It's inscription is also from the 1958 Sanford Herald article:

From Mr. Leon McDonald's letter to Mr. William E. Horner:

"Back at Olivia crossing, turn right instead of left, and drive a mile westward to Murchison Colored Church (Jack's Chapel). There an interesting headstone may be seen, inscribed: "Reverend Jack Murchison, Born 1795, died 1922.' The former date was secured from slave records at Holly Hill Plantation, the old Murchison home where now a trailer park is located across McDuffie's Creek on the right of #87 at Manchester. Near Uncle Jack's grave is that of his eldest daughter, Mary M. McLean, 108 years old."

St. Andrews Church may be reached by taking 78 W., turning left onto St. Andrews Church Road (SR# 1146). Continue driving to the intersection of Swann's-Station Road (SR# 1144). Church and graveyard located on the left at the intersection.

ST. MARK'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH CEMETERY CHATHAM COUNTY # 209

US 421 N., turn right onto SR# 1007, travel .4 mile, turn right. Graveyard located behind old store to your left.

The following information from Sanford Herald article of June 26, 1959:

The historic St. Mark's Church burial ground located behind Vann Oldham's store in Gulf is set off by a marker contribued by the Episcopal Diocese of North Carolina about two months ago.

The marker, contributed through Bishop Penick, lists the erection of the church, which is presently standing in Siler City. The church was moved to Siler City in 1953 after standing in Gulf since 1847. The church was consecrated by Bishop Levi S. Ives.

The builder of the church, John Haughton, is buried in the plot along with other members of the Haughton family. The attractive plot, located near the General Creosoting Company in Gulf, is well shaded with towering trees and surrounded by an intact solid stone wall. Oldham has been serving as caretaker of the cemetery for many years.

Many of the monuments in the cemetery are elaborately carved, expensive creations with the name of the builder still legible. Many of the markers were shipped from Fayetteville.

Civil War veterans and many persons who were reportedly killed in a plague of typhoid fever are buried in the plot, which is mostly devoted to names in the Haughton family. Harris, Frasier, Hooker, Murdoch, McIntyre, McNeal, Newly, Heron, and McIver are other names appearing in the plot.

In all there are 34 head markers still in the cemetery. All can be easily read. Slaves owned by families in the Gulf area are supposedly buried on the outlying areas of the enclosed section.

LEE COUNTY
DEEP RIVER TOWNSHIP # 52

This site is located on the Barringer farm in Deep River Township. Family tradition indicated that this was a slave graveyard.

SLOAN GRAVEYARD #1

LEE COUNTY
EAST SANFORD TOWNSHIP # 79

Take 42 E., turn left onto Rice Road (SR# 1523), travel .9 mile, turn left on Thomas Road (SR# 1525), go 1.1 mile, turn left. Graveyard was located in the yard of the 1st house to the left.

As reported by Bancy Uzzell, present resident, when they first moved to the old Sloan house there were several graves, but only one stone. The stone was inscribed with the name "John Sloan". About ¼ mile in the woods behind her house are the old Sloan houses, still standing and in fairly good condition.

SLOAN GRAVEYARD #2

STARLING GRAVEYARD

LEE COUNTY
POCKET TOWNSHIP # 174

At the stoplight in Tramway, turn onto Center Church Road (SR# 1303), go 5 miles, turn right onto Plank Road (SR# 1007). Travel to second house on the right, residence of Porter Langford. The graveyard was located in a field near his house before Mr. Langford removed the tombstones.

This graveyard was featured in a Sanford Herald article December 1, 1958. The canvasser for the Herald found the following:

The only headstone is that of Jack Starling with no dates. Persons living near the Langford property said that several other graves were formerly located near the Jack Starling grave.

THOMAS GRAVEYARD #4

LEE COUNTY
JONESBORO TOWNSHIP # 146

This is the story told to me concerning the people buried at this site:

Two young boys, aged 12 and 14, came down with pneumonia. Their parents called a "witch doctor" to treat the boys. The doctor undressed the boys, built a fire outside and proceeded to treat the boys near this fire. It was winter and the boys died. This happened in the 1880's or 1890's.

Also buried here was "old man Joe Thomas".

THOMAS GRAVEYARD #5

LEE COUNTY
JONESBORO TOWNSHIP # 129

Take 42 E., turn left onto the Rice Road, travel to O'Quinn Road, turn left. Graveyard is located on the left in a pine grove.

The following data from Mrs. Ruby Griffin:

One stone was at this site with the inscription: John P. Thomas
Also buried here is Myrtle Hight. Some of the people here died during the flu epidemic of the early 1900's.

TICE GRAVEYARD

This black family cemetery contains many graves.

TYSON GRAVEYARD

LEE COUNTY
POCKET TOWNSHIP # 163

US #1 S., turn right onto White Hill Road (15-501), go 3.5 miles, turn right onto Plank Road (SR# 1007). Continue driving 4.7 miles to the house of the Owens family and turn right. Tyson graveyard is located behind the house on the left.

The following is a copy of the Sanford Herald article concerning this graveyard. It appeared in the June 18, 1958 issue:

Going north on the Plank road from the Goins place, it is about 2 miles to a house now occupied by the W. G. Owens family. This is the former old Tyson place. A Tyson named Bart is said to have been the last of this family. In a family plot several hundred yards from the Owens home are nine graves, each marked with brownstone head and foot markers. There are no inscriptions. All the graves are thought to be Tysons.

UNDERWOOD GRAVEYARD #2

LEE COUNTY
JONESBORO TOWNSHIP # 147

Take 78 W., turn left onto St. Andrews Church Road (SR# 1146), go 4.7 miles, graveyard was once located on the right. Reportedly, all the stones have been removed from this site.

UNKNOWN GRAVEYARD #1

LEE COUNTY
GREENWOOD TOWNSHIP # 120

87 S., turn right onto McDougald Road (SR# 1140), go 1.7 miles and turn onto Bailey Thomas Road (SR# 1186), travel 2.2 miles, turn right onto Sheriff Watson Road (SR# 1162). Continue driving for approximately 3/4 mile, turn left into the drive of Lynn Rogers. Graveyard is located on the right across the field in the edge of the woods.

This site is marked with fieldstones but does not have inscriptions.

UNKNOWN GRAVEYARD #2

CHATHAM COUNTY # 203

This site, surveyed by Martha Harrington, contains 3 graves marked, but without inscriptions.

UNKNOWN GRAVEYARD #3

CHATHAM COUNTY # 199

This site was also surveyed by Martha Harrington and does not have stones with inscriptions.

UNKNOWN GRAVEYARD #4

LEE COUNTY
EAST SANFORD TOWNSHIP # 80

Take Charlotte Avenue E., turn right onto Grapevinyard Road (SR# 1002). Continue down road to San-Lee Park. Graveyard located in the recreational vehicle camp ground behind the bathhouse. This site contains 3 graves marked with fieldstones. One grave could possible have initials (I. Y.) scratched on it, but it was not very clear.

UNKNOWN GRAVEYARD #5

LEE COUNTY
POCKET TOWNSHIP # 167

Take 42 E., turn right onto Steel Bridge Road (SR# 1318). Go approximately 1½ miles, turn right onto Pocket Church Road. Graveyard was located in the woods next to Pocket Church Graveyard. This site was destroyed many years ago.

UNKNOWN GRAVEYARD #6

LEE COUNTY
DEEP RIVER TOWNSHIP # 47

US #1 N., turn right onto Old US# 1 toward Moncure. Travel approximately 3 3/4 miles to Deep River School. Turn left onto the dirt road across from the school. Travel for approximately 1¼ miles, graveyard is located in the woods to the right. Two graves are located here without inscriptions.

UNKNOWN GRAVEYARD #7

LEE COUNTY
POCKET TOWNSHIP # 173

US #1 to Tramway, turn onto Center Church Road (SR# 1303), travel approximately 5 miles, turn right onto old dirt road. Graveyard is reportedly in the woods beyond the dead end of road. Ted Lawrence was told that there was a graveyard located in the woods behind the old stage cabin.

UNKNOWN FOOTSTONE GRAVEYARD

LEE COUNTY
GREENWOOD TOWNSHIP # 98

US #1 S., turn left onto Rocky Fork Road, go approximately 2½ miles, turn left into the drive of Mr. Jimmy Smith. Mr. Smith found this footstone on the side of the road near his house. It was covered by brambles and was probably thrown out of a passing car. He has lived in the area for over 50 years and does not remember seeing a graveyard in this location. The initials on the footstone are: W. McK. M.

One grave is located outside the rock fence, but does not have an inscription. This site was surveyed by Martha Harrington.

YANKEE GRAVEYARD #1

WAKE COUNTY # 239

According to a local resident, Mr. Exum Hair who was born in the late 1800's, this was a Yankee graveyard. He remembers the wooden markers at the graves. Nearby, you can still see rifle pits used during the Civil War. All the wooden markers have disappeared from decay. Martha Harrington surveyed this site.

YANKEE GRAVEYARD #2

CHATHAM COUNTY # 192

Annie Utley, owner of this graveyard, was told by her father that there were Yankee graves at this site. He would not allow her to plow this area under the old trees. He told her that the Yankees placed guards at the graves when they were first buried. All these years, the graveyard has never been plowed over, even though there were never any markers. This graveyard was surveyed by Martha Harrington.

This letter reprinted courtesy of Sanford Herald:

Olivia, N. C.
April 10, 1958

Mr. Wm. E. Horner
Mr. John H. Monger
Sanford, N. C.

Gentlemen:

Your have, in my humble opinion, assumed a most laudable project in offering to record locations and other data relating to cemeteries in family plots, abandoned church-sites, and other remote places in our part of the country. In sending the following list to each of you I offer my hearty y co-operation.

Assume that you are leaving Jonesboro on Highway #87 toward Fayetteville. Reaching the crest of the river hill and before descending past Clark's skating rink a farm road turns off eastward (to your left), and leads to the old Gaster family cemetery. Unless I am mistaken, it contains the grave of Jacob Gaster, Revolutionary soldier and prominent political figure in his day. He was in 1793 appointed to a committee to lay out a county seat town for the infant county of Moore. He served in the legislature representing Moore in 1796, 1804, 1806, 1812 and 1815.

Crossing Upper Little River and passing through Swann's Station on the old route of highway 87, the old Cameron burying ground lies among trees to your right. Here lie ancestors, on the maternal side of his house, of Mr. Dixon Thomas who is at present with the Sanford post office.

Back at Olivia crossing turn right instead of left, and drive a mile westward to Murchison Colored Church (Jack's Chapel). There an interesting headstone may be seen, inscribed: "Reverend Jack Murchison, Born 1795, died 1922". The former date was secured from slave records at Holly Hill Plantation, the old Murchison home where now a trailer park is located across McDuffie's Creek on the right of #87 at Manchester. Near Uncle Jack's grave is that of his eldest daughter, Mary M. McLean, 108 years old.

Continue westward from Murchison Chapel for a mile plus. Opposite the house of James Lewis Wicker a pine covered hill may be seen on your right, known as "the Mount Airy Old Field". A local road leads past this. Leave your car on this road a hundred yards after entering the wood; walk left another hundred yards through the wood, and two or three headstones may be seen by other unmarked graves. One of these contains the body of a brother of the late Chief Justice A. A. Flowers Seawell. A quarter mile beyond, NW, was the Old Seawell place, more anciently the Buie place.

Back on the graded road continue westward an eighth of a mile; look across the old Bailey Buie house in the hollow to the crest of the ridge a quarter-mile beyond, all on your left, and on that ridge was the old Daniel Buie house, burned in a forest fire a good many years since. In a family plot not far east of the fallen cedar trees which mark the house site a number of the family are buried. Daniel Buie and wife Lanie Dixon (then spelled Dickerson, a Franklin County name) are great-grandparents of Dixon Thomas, abovementioned.

Proceed westward, and cross the now black-top Gulf Road (Wilcox's Road, over which his wagons hauled pig-iron from Ore Hill to Cross Creek) just over the ridge south of Hornet Hill. (The Herald has been calling it Harnett Hill--unh-unh--the first little schoolhouse was built near a hornet's nest. Charlie Rogers' grandfather, a slight gentleman with snow-white Robert E. Lee beard, used to preach in that schoolhouse, and for emphasis in his discourse stamp his foot gently by emphatically and say "Sirs!")

Finally across this blacktop road the old Hardy Pierce house appears on the right, and not far beyond it on the left is the Pierce graveyard. "Grandpa" Hardy Pierce was considered another centenarian. His birthdate is graven 1812, but Uncle Jack Murchison used to say: "Mr. Hardy Pierce and I were about the same age. The reason I know is, we would often wrestle when we were boys, and one would throw about as often as the other." (Uncle Jack picked up his near perfect English and much other learning as house-boy in the dining hall of the aristocratic Murchison family and their learned and prominent ante-bellum visitors at Holly Hill Plantation where he was born a slave, and given as a wedding present by Colonel Duncan Murchison to his daughter Mag upon her marriage to Parson Neill McKay, D. D.--Harvard conferred. The home of the couple was the present Summer Villa, the Ross home at Summerville.)

Almost in sight from the Pierce graveyard, at an intersection with a road leading to Cameron, was the Black graveyard. Black's Chapel has been built recently, by this family cemetery.

Back again at Olivia, go toward Fayetteville on #87, pass Spout Springs about a mile and on your left a former truck trail fire-break takes off at right angles to your left. A mile plus on this you cross the ford of Reedy Swamp. Half way from this ford to McLeod's Creek a road dead-ends at a colored cemetery where Negroes who once populated the area are interred, Armstrong, Thomas, Williams, etc., by name. The latest map of the USDI Geological survey indicates this as the Armstrong Cemetery. The area, once containing a rather considerable population, is now a part of the 14,000 acre holding of the N. C. Pulp Corporation and is unpeopled. In this cemetery is probably the grave of Sol Williams, uncle of John Taylor Williams, M. D., negro orphan boy reared by another uncle near the site of Benhaven School and one of the turpentine woods gang employed by Rory Barnes of Rock Branch (grandfather of Bill Barnes of Jonesboro and his late brother, Ray). The boy would omit his issue of bacon at Barnes' commissary in favor of cash to buy schoolbooks; taught school; put himself through medical college, and set up practice at Charlotte. He was appointed by Cleveland as Minister to Liberia. Subsequently someone asked Uncle Sol about his nephew. "John Taylor's got to be a minister," Sol replied, "an' is preaching at a church called Liberia."

Back on #87, a couple of miles further you turn a long bend with a red hill on the outside, left, the "Gully MacLean place". On the right a large field, and at the Overhills side of the field a road leading out to another Negro burying ground used by the Presbyterian church congregation back at Spout Springs. In this another centenarian, Willis McRae the elder, patriarch of what was once McRaetown three miles to the west (now unpeopled) lies buried. A hundred and four, if memory serves correctly, and the father of twenty-four. Here, too, Uncle Alberry Roan, once on Cap'n. Neill Black's work-train crew on the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley,--one of a couple of hundred men who shoveled dirt from the side-ditches onto flat cars. Uncle Alberry said Sheriff Monger of Moore, when on rare occasions meeting someone he didn't know, would invariably employ his peculiar greeting reserved for strangers: "Who you? Who you? You look more like your daddy every day."

Turn back now to Spout Springs and get on Hwy. #27 via Johnsonville.

On toward Cameron, cross Beaver Creek and a wagon road leads off upstream not far from the bridge. Within hollerin' distance you come to a lot of graves, of which I know little. I believe there are Camerons and possibly some Monroes. I seem to recall having heard that the first corpse there was interred during nighttime, about the time of the Revolution.

Why, I don't know. Possibly a case similar to Governor Benjamin Smith, of Smithville (Southport), who died after nightfall and was buried before day in a remote spot on his plantation, to keep his creditors from (legally) claiming his body. Later his body was removed to old St. Phillips on Orton Plantation, as you know, where it now lies under a marble slab. I believe there is a building of Chapel Hill, presented to the UNC by hime in his more affluent day.....

....Well, this is a rainy day, so I've wrote and wrote. You'll need another rainy day to read, if you read.

Anyway, best wishes for a bonny bye,

Aye,

Leon M. McDonald

Going out from Jonesboro on the old Lemon Springs road and past the John Edwards place (Glenn Edwards home) on the Hornet Hill road, pass Herman Johnson's home, then Juniper Creek, and turn right on next graded unsurfaced road to its deadend, ¼ mile, at the Johnson family cemetery. Hard by is the old Dr. Johnson house where a son, Xennie Johnson has lived a bachelor for years. Xennie is now in Lee hospital, very ill. Watchmaker Johnson at Jonesboro, and a brother, have purchased the cemetery lot--their parents lie there. Dr. Johnson, Sam Johnson for whom Johnsonville is named, and other well known people are buried there.
